

Nuisance Hog Hunting

Overview

Feral hogs are no doubt one of the most serious issues that a Texas landowner can face today. They cause un-measurable damage to the forage and shelter of native species.

Hog removal is almost always an impossible task. Even with the presence of a high fence it is still possible for them to pass from property to property. The most effective method of dealing with hogs is no doubt a professional trapping operation. The downside is that these services are expensive, making them viable only for large infestations. Regular hunting of feral hogs can reduce their impact and even convince them to move elsewhere.

Wildland Systems offers our professional hunting services to minimize the damage done to your property. We recommend a regular scheduling of hunting efforts to have the greatest effect. You may elect for one off operations, weekly, or monthly hunts. Upon purchasing our hunting services you must recognize that company representatives will possess, and use firearms in order to fulfill their duties on your property. We will set up camera traps and bait stations in order to maximize our effectiveness on your hog population.
